Experience: David Yon has practiced primarily in the area of insurance, administrative, regulatory, and business law for over thirty years. His clients have included many of the major insurance writers in the country, as well as small start up companies. During that span of time he has provided advice concerning compliance with state and federal insurance laws and rules, formation and acquisition of companies, product development, residual market issues, rate filings and reinsurance transactions. In addition to helping clients avoid regulatory problems, he also assists clients in resolving disputes through negotiation, court challenges, administrative hearings, and arbitration proceedings. David's experience includes life and health issues as well as property and casualty matters.

David began his law practice in 1980 with the State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner's Office. His practice at the Office included oversight of insurance company regulation and transactions, specialty lines, agent and agency matters, and employment law. He left the Department in 1987 to enter private practice. David is AV Rated by Martindale Hubbell, a member of Florida Trend's 2006 Legal Elite, and recognized in Chambers USA and Best Lawyers of America.

David is an active member of his community, with a special interest in projects for the local running club, Gulf Winds Track Club.
